

SRS Citizen's Advisory Board

Recommendation No. 1

October 25, 1994

ISPR of Technical Documents

The SRS Citizens Advisory Board recognizes the value of independent technical review of documents as a means of improving their quality and credibility. We recommend that significant environmental documents produced by SRS, such as the Site's annual Environmental Monitoring Report, receive an appropriate level of independent technical review before being published as final. In this regard, the independent review of the Environmental Monitoring Report provided by the Site's Environmental Advisory Committee should continue. To permit DOE to claim satisfactory independent technical review, the independent technical review panels should formally state their approval to publish the documents as final.
